FOREWORD

In a democratic government, a nation speaks more eloquently through its elected representatives and all citizens are meant to participate equally in the development and establishment of the popular will, by which their society is run. The greater and more effective interaction between the people and their elected representatives, the better the chances for the parliamentarians in the discharge of their responsibilities.

The Provincial Assembly of the Punjab being the oldest and the largest House of Legislature in the country has a very bright history with illuminating parliamentary conventions from its very beginning and I feel proud to be a custodian of this august House. It is our duty to converse and promote the treasured parliamentary conventions and to complement with new democratic traditions. The link between the elected and the electors is indispensable and this book is a modest effort in building one such bridge.

I believe that it is the privilege of the people to have ample knowledge about the people they have chosen. "The Biography of Members" is a comprehensive capsule of information of the sitting Members of the Punjab Assembly, which will help the public to acquaint themselves with their elected representatives and have a more meaningful interaction with them.

I would like to place on record my appreciation for the work done by the secretariat; which is an outcome of team work of the officers and the staff of Punjab Assembly under supervision of the Secretary.

I am also grateful to the Honourable Members of the Assembly who extended their cooperation in the compilation of this book by providing necessary information about themselves.

Parvez Elahi

PREFACE

It is a great honour for all of us that the Provincial Assembly of the Punjab is identified as popular democratic institution of the country with illuminating traditions. The book in your hand is a living example of these traditions.

This compilation embodies brief sketches of the life of Members of the present Provincial Assembly of the Punjab, highlighting their academic qualification, party affiliation, profession, family background and a gist of their parliamentary career. The profiles contained in this book are based on the particulars provided by the members themselves in a well-designed form.

This Secretariat acknowledges cooperation extended by the Honourable Members of Punjab Assembly that enabled us to make this compendium of information a verity. We have made every effort to ensure accuracy of contents presented in this book; any omission or error is, therefore, not deliberate. Despite all precautions on our part, admittedly there will be room for improvement. We will appreciate feedback and suggestions for improvement.

Some of the information contained in this book is variable in nature and is expected to change with time. Although a revised edition of this book will not be printed, however, its web version will be frequently updated. We will appreciate if the Honourable Members can keep us updated on any change in their data especially in their addresses, telephone, WhatsApp and fax numbers.

This publication owes its origin and fulfillment to the patronage and guidance extended by Mr Parvez Elahi, Speaker, Provincial Assembly of the Punjab during all stages of its compilation and to accomplish a task of eminent importance. It is hoped that it would serve as ready reference for the public representatives, government functionaries, political analysts, researchers, students and the general public alike.
